Arrangements for an "Affair of Honor" Spoiled by a Late Sleep-The Latest Sensation in Baltimore.

[New York Herald.] BALTIMORE, September 11, 1877. For the past forty-eight hours the upper circle of Baltimore society has been at a white-heat of excitement over an impending duel, which, by an extraordinary combination of circumstances, was prevented from taking place. At an early hour on Sunday morning a carriage, containing three gentlemen, left Mount Vernon Place and was rapidly driven towards the outskirts of the city. About an hour after this a second carriage approached the same neighborhood, was likewise entered by a party of three, and driven in the same direction as the previous one. Each carriage contained, in addition to three gentlemen, two ominous-looking mahogany cases, which were handled very carefully by the occupants. The first party followed the Charles-Street avenue road out to Boundary avenue, which they crossed. The carriage stopped and the occupants alighted in a grove just outside of the city, which was lately used as an artillery camp. Three gentlemen walked up and down under the trees, occasionally consulting their watches, until 5 o'clock, when they peered anxiously down the road over which they had just come and again compared time-pieces and exchanged impatient ejaculations. RETURNING TO BREAKFAST.

At half-past 5 they returned to their carriage and were driven back to the city. The second party were driven out the same Boundary avenue shortly before 6 o'clock, That part of his confession which crimi- Federal Union. The second carriage was soon afterward turned cityward, and the occupants speedi- the sentence which consigns them to felons' y followed the example of the others and ordered breakfast in an adjoining room in the same hotel.

RESULT OF A BILLIARD-ROOM QUARREL. Investigation into these singular proceedings has disclosed the following particulars: On Friday last as Dr. W. W. Norris was engaged in a game of billiards in the Mount Vernon Hotel with Mr. Thomas Bagwell they became involved in a dispute, and Mr. Bagwell struck Dr. Norris in the face with his elenched fist. Friends immediately separated the belligerents and quiet was tem-Norris, called on Mr. Bagwell, and was referred to Mr. Joseph Whyte, with whom he arranged the preliminaries for a duel, to take place in the suburbs at 5 A. M. on Sunday. The weapons chosen were duelling-pistols, and the distance decided at ten paces. All the arrangements How MORTON STOOD THE PRESIDENT'S VISITwere completed Saturday night, and on Sunday morning, as above indicated, Dr. Norris and his friends were promptly on the ground, and after waiting the usual time customary on such occasions returned to telegram from Indiana stating that Senator the city. Mr. Bagwell's failure to be on hand promptly was caused, it is asserted, by and is feeling better to-day than for a week his having slept a few minutes later than he intended, and was otherwise slightly deup for lost time by driving rapidly to the Schurz with regard to the amalgamation of place appointed for the meeting.

A DILEMMA. The immediate friends of the principals have since vesterday held several consultations for the purpose of determining what is the proper thing to do under the circumstances. They decline to disclose the conclusions reached, but it is intimated that Dr. Norris's friends will not consent to a second meeting, on the ground that in appearing on the ground at the time appointed he has fully vindicated his position. What course Mr. Bagwell's friends have decided upon is not yet known.

As already indicated, both parties are well known here. Mr. Bagwell is a Virginian by birth, and a relative of the Wise family. His brother, General Bagwell, was quite prominent in Virginia polities. Mr. Bagwell came to Baltimore several years ago, and was received in society circles and joined the leading clubs. He is a handsome man of thirtythree, of good physique, a stylish dresser, and a dashing fellow generally. His business connections have been with a large pered and hot-blooded. Dr. Norris is a young physician of standing. His father, Somerville Norris, is a well-known and wealthy citizen, who resides in an elegant killed thirteen persons. suburban mansion. Dr. Norris is also a man of handsome address and a recognized leader | pointed superintendent of Hot Springs. in fashionable circles.

SEPTEMBER 11.—The leaf-tobacco market has been without noticeable feature the past week, though sales have been fully up to late averages. Tradesmen call the market quiet, but it is possible they do so rather because they may have anticipated more business at this time than because they actually regard the transactions effected light in volume. Exporters continue steady purchasers of western leaf, and if the seperate lots taken by them are not as large as might be expected in busier times, the aggregate taken for their account makes a very good weekly exhibit. The inquiry for this variety of tobacco came from all branches of the trude during the week just closed, but, as usual, the demand for export largely predominated, as indicated by the transfers, and the sales include a lot of about 160 boysheads—168, we hear, from New Orleans. NEW YORK TOBACCO MARKET.

A count of stock just completed shows 20,000 A count of stock last hogsheads on sale, three four hs of which, according to our informant, are nondescripts and low grades to our informant, are nondescripts and low grades. This is a moderate supply, and the only regretable circumstance connected with the in elligence is that the proportions of poor and good tobaccos cannot be reversed. Prices are steady and the outlook is considered favorable.

Virginia Leaf.—We note sales of bright and dark wrappers and old lugs, but actual transactions were limited. Manufacturers were looking round and may operate more liberally before our next. There is a fair stock to select from though more goods could be sold if more good leaf were available. is a fair stock to select from though more goods could be sold if more good leaf were available.

Seed-Leaf.—Messrs, Carles E. Fischer & Brother, tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, report to the Tobacco Leaf as follows concerning seed-leaf: We notice a decided improvement in the demand for seed-leaf tobacco, nearly all kinds receiving more or less attention. The sales of the week exceed those of our last report by 600 cases, amounting in all to 2.-500 cases, of which for export 450 cases.

Minimfactured.—The demand for Cavendish tobacco embraced assortments for both home and foreign account. Local manufacturers report fairly Manufactured.—The demand for Cavendish to-bacco embraced assortments for both home and foreign account. Local manufacturers report fairly active trade, and there is a feeling throughout the market that a better business than has latterly been had may be anticipated as a consequence of the improved and improving western grain prospects. Bright wrappers being scarce and high makes it difficult for dealers to meet the views of buvers who do not realize the increasing cost of this article, and this is an obstacle that will have ts be continually incumbered notil, we suppose, December next, when the new crop will be available. The exports for the week were $7.324 pounds.

Smoking.—A steady but not noticeably large trade is reported in smoking tobacco of all grades.

Cigars.—There is no change to note in the cigar market, neither strikes nor smuggling—both of which are among the entities of the day—seeming to make any appreciable alteration in the regular trade.—New York Tobacco Leaf.

GENERAL MARKETS.

NEW YORK DRY-GOODS MARKET.

SEPTEMBER 11.—From jobbing hands the distribution of dry goods continues exceedingly large, and without the aid of a centennial celebration or any like attractions the trade is of proportions equal to that of last year, while from other points east, west, and south come reports of a large and satisfactory movement of goods. With one firm the quantity of goods—that is cases and yards—was greater than for any previous week of their business career outside war times, while the figures were near to if they did not exceed $2,000,000. We also find that all others are deling very largety, several of them reporting sales as much larger than ever before, war times always excepted. We also learn of a very large trade in movement at Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee. Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville, Nashytile, Memphis, New Orleans, Galveston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and distributors of those markets are very gratified at the character of their reports.

The action we notice is not confined to dry-goods houses, but is alike noticeable with the clothing and the cloth-houses, and in fact with every branch of the textile trade, and the present month will probably show the largest business of many years.

Cotton goods have shown no special inquiry, and yet for frequent small selections, which are of daily occurrence, the sales are kept at a very fair total, with the business much larger than appearances indicate.

with the business much larger than appearances indicate.

Print cloths are without any infovement of importance, and while quotations are still held at 3%c, thirty days and sixty days for 64x64 extra goods, and 3½c, cash for 56x60, we learn of senall sales of extra goods at Fall River yesterday at 3½c, cash.

Prints have been lobbing very freely to-day, and in the various jobbing-houses the farge piles that are seen awaiting shipment and the constant selection going on lead to the belief that stocks must soon require replenishing. We incline to this view of the case, and with steadiness on the part of agents, the curtainment through stoppage and division of production, an improved channel would give relief to the market. It is necessary that these points be observed and heseled, as with steadiness the stock may be passed into consumption, orices improved, and the cloth market held where it is, if hot improved, the Windsor's Turkey red at 133es, extra and at 15c., and fancles at 11c, are among the choicest ship Gardian, for Autwerp.

Dress goods of all styles and qualifies continue to pear as in very wide demand if of marked style and character.

Linseys have shown some inquiry for small selections, and all markets are taking light selections.

¡Flannels are in good distribution with jobbers, and the light reorders for many styles shows that stocks are being considerably broken, and new business of importance will soon be at hand.

Men's wear woollens are not in active movement, but from dry goods jobbers, clothers, and clothhouses we find the inquiry for renewed selections of light quantity becoming more general, and are con-
